The punishment for these offences is military degradation and death.

Marshal Bazaine, whose life, and what he prizes much more highly-his reputation as a soldier-are thus at stake, was the most brilliant of Napoleon's Marshals. He was born in 1809, entered the army at an early age, had honors lavishly bestowed upon him for his bravery, until after the siege of Sebastopol, during which he conducted himself with distinguished gallantry, he was made a General of Division, and sent in command of the French portion of the expedition which reduced Kinburn. He was afterwards honored with the command of the Legion of Honor, succeeded General Forey Cross in 1863.

The Republican majority in Pennsylva-nia, which, at the Presidential election, was 137,000 was reduced by the election of the past week, to 15,000 or 20,000. The Philadelphia Press estimates the majority of Gordon, the Republican candidate for Judge of the Supreme Court, at 18,000.

The Democrats in Ohio have succeeded in electing a majority of the Legislature, and it is probable that Allen, the Democrat ic candidate for Governor, is elected. This State, it will be remembered, gave Grant a large majority. The Republicans have also had their majority cut down in Iowa. These elections, however, cannot be depended on, as an expression of popular opinion, as the vote was light, and the questions probably of a local nature.
